

THE NEWS

"Everything looks bright," says Stanton's official bulletin. Recruiting is progressing in most of the states. The army and the people are in the best of spirits. Early in the morning of the 10th, the rebel Vaughn was whipped and his train captured. Imboden has been cut off, and last but by no means least, that blood-stained cut-throat and murderer, Quantrell is reported captured.

Mrs. Harvey, who has been spending a few days with her friends in Clinton, left this afternoon for Vicksburg.

STATE NEWS.

The Prescott Journal says the river is so low that travelers wear "dusters" on the boats, the same as they would on a carriage road, to keep the sand off from their clothing. The Beloit Journal says that a son of John Laughlin, of that city, aged eight years, was run over by a two-horse wagon, on Tuesday last, and killed. He was riding in the forward part of the wagon, and in reaching after a bundle which had fallen upon the whiffletree, fell upon the ground, and the wheels passed over his body. He was carried home, and died soon afterwards. The Prairie du Chien Courier says one of the best public buildings west of the lakes is the New Passenger Depot and Hotel now being built here. The work is all first class, and the style of the building is creditable to the architect. It will soon be complete, and one of the finest houses in the West.

The Madison Patriot says Mr. Kohner, who has leased Bruen's Block, and proposes to convert it into a first-class hotel, informs us that he will commence operations on the building immediately. He proposes to expend fifteen or twenty thousand dollars in re-arranging the house, which outlay will make it one of the most extensive and convenient hotel buildings in the State. The amount necessary to furnish the house properly will probably be $10,000 or 15,000, upon which expenditure a nice profit could be realized in a short time. We are informed, says the Portage Register, that Mr. John Argyle, of the Portville House, Derby County, England, has purchased the large stock farm of Andrew Robinson, late of Barbours, deceased. Mr. Argyle is a gentleman of large experience in stock raising, and proposes to make this his business. We think there is a wide field for improvement in the number and quality of stock in this country. There is probably no portion of the state better adapted to the purpose than the vicinity of this city. The Wisconsin, Fox and Baraboo rivers, with their tributaries, are skirted with excellent marsh and meadow lands, furnishing abundance of the best pasture in summer, and plenty of hay for the winter, while our city has market facilities by rail in every direction. We call attention of stock growers to these lands, and hope to see them improved.

At one of the Washington hotels, says the Republican, when the news of the fall of Atlanta came, a man said he did not believe it and offered to bet that it was not true. He was assured that it was official, but exclaimed, "Don't care; I'm a McClellan man and will bet ten dollars against five that Atlanta is not captured." His companion also roared himself a McClellan man ready to bet to the same effect. It seems from these symptoms that McClellan's men are as much inclined to disbelieve good news as the veritable rebels themselves. War Democrats who support the "Young Napoleon" will doubtless as much dislike to hear of the success of our arms before the election as ever did a Copperhead. If they have any patriotism they have placed themselves in an embarrassing position.

Mr. Sloan.—The Watertown Republican says: The career of Mr. Sloan in Congress has been marked by an unwavering devotion to the Union, and his life and voice have uniformly been given in support of measures best calculated to suppress the Rebellion and restore the country to peace.

In these times of feverish sentiment and reckless legislation, we want clear, cool-headed and able men in Congress—and such a man is J. C. Sloan.

We have no doubt but that the acknowledged, unblemished character and sterling worth of Mr. Sloan will be recognized by the electors of Jefferson county, who will give him a handsome vote.

The New York Post suggests that, to save the credit of the Peace party with the Court of Jeff. Davis, the Chicago Convention should re-assemble, and apologize to him for the wild proceedings of Commodore Farragut and General Sherman, and assure him that the capture of the forts and the occupation of Atlanta are but temporary accidents, that can be readily atoned for.

A GREAT man is always willing to be tried. While he sits on the cushion of adversity, he goes to sleep. When he is pushed, tormented, deflected, he has a chance to learn something. He has been put on his wits, on his manhood; he has gained facts, learns his ignorance, is cured of the insanity of conceit, has got moderation and real skill. The wise man always throws himself on the side of his assailants. It is more to his interest than it is to his vanity to find his weak point. The wound electrifies and falls off from him like a dead skin; and when they would triumph, lo! he has passed on invulnerable. As long as all that is said is against me, I feel a certain assurance of success; but as soon as honored words of praise are spoken for me, I feel as one that lies unprotected before his enemies.—Emerson.

A Good Thing Well Said.

Mr. Taylor of the Chicago Journal says the Federal Government holds the hammer that, unless bad counsels prevail, can weld this Union with manifold blows in the red furnace of battle, and save it for God and mankind.

Grant is at Petersburg and Sherman at Atlanta, and when you have counted up all the armies you can think of, I will tell you of a grander: the people of the North. And they have a battle to fight and to win; and admit and unscrupulous enemy to slink. What with bullets rightly cast here and bullets rightly sent yonder, the last days of rebellion should be nearing. I have heard men boasting of ready how easily we can conquer in the coming contest. That confidence has lost many a day to the right and the might, for dispiriting your foes and you weaken your friends. The campaign at the North has begun; if we are vanquished at all, it will not be in southern trenches, beyond that brown line about which I have been writing, but fairly north of the blue, and amid our own houses in November. The Lieutenant General seeks nothing in Virginia, and the loyal-hearted pray for nothing in Georgia, that would bring us any nearer triumph and peace than the re-election of Abraham Lincoln. We have had a President but no United States. Let us now finish the business we began and have back!

I remember a picture of Fremont, standing upon a peak of the Rocky Mountains catching a bee. That was when he was the Pathfinder. I remember a picture of McClellan seated upon a war-horse on parade day, covered with laurels as if he were Napoleon. That was when he was Napoleon. There are two wings of the opposition; the one never could "make up his mind" and the other has certainly got that "bee in his bonnet." Two are a pair; the one is a negrito and lies down in the shafts; the other is heavy, and runs away with the wagon; the one would play Joshua, and things would stand still; the other would play Jehu, and the world would go to wreck. If only they could be elected on the same ticket it would be as if neither of them had ever lived at all, and no harm done—a curious specimen of neutralized humanity!

There is a third class whose coat of arms should be a calm, the most selfish thing in the animal kingdom. They have a dripping Jonah clambering over the ship's side, who wants a passage, and it seems unkind that Mr. Lincoln will not jump overboard to make room for him. As for the Jonah, I hope he keeps a watch on his petty ambitions.

By these petty ambitions, the distractions will all be forgotten. I have too profound a faith in the justice and honor of loyal men to believe that the principles of which Mr. Lincoln stands forth the exponent, will have more than three armies to conquer; the rank and file under George B. McClellan, John C. Fremont and Robert E. Lee. Mr. Lincoln stands for the Union candidates in this campaign, who have not fought a battle this many a year. The Hon. Thomas Corwin, now in this city, is going home to take the field in Ohio. "I shall make," said he to a friend, "I shall make the last speeches of my life for Abraham Lincoln." It will be like "the light of other days" to have old "Tom" once more upon the stump. His eye has not lost the old laugh in it, nor is his natural force abated. There are yet others, the veterans of old campaigns, the snows on whose heads have not fallen farther and frozen their hearts, whose voices, long unheard by the multitude, will be lifted once again, and their latest recorded utterance will be for country and for God. There were issues in other days, that we magnified; let the tremendous question now looming in the balance magnify us, give strength to action, dignity to purpose, hope to liberty, and to our country, salvation.

Dr. Gen. McClellan Order to Join THE REBEL ARMY.—The following article from one of their Richmond friends, needs the attention of the copperhead party: It places General McClellan in an enviable light. We trust that he will be able to deny it.

The Richmond Dispatch, in June 1862, had the following extraordinary statement:

A MILITARY ADVENTURER.

In the early part of this war, Geo. McClellan wrote to a distinguished officer in the south expressing his desire to serve in the Confederate army. If he dare deny the fact and his recent reports show that in mendacity he is the representative man of the Yankee nation—it can be demonstrated by such evidence as will close his lips in eternal silence. When he was at West Point he affected to fraternize especially with those from the south, and to have little sympathy with those from the north. We dare say this was genuine, and that he really was anxious to serve under Jeff. Davis in this war, but the high bluff offered by Lincoln was too much for his easy virtue. He was not the man to sacrifice interest for sentiment, and of late has shown a disposition to become as extreme in his antagonism as in his friendship for the south.

It is said that an envoy was lately sent to Maximilian by Jeff. Davis to open diplomatic relations between the rebel chief and the new-fledged Emperor. Maximilian refused to receive or have anything to do with him—declaring that he did not recognize the Confederacy, that it was not a recognized Power, etc.

A GENTLEMAN in one of the rural cities of New York some time last winter procured an insurance upon his house, furniture and "wearing apparel therein." A short time ago, he appeared at the counter of the insurance office and demanded one thousand dollars on the policy for "wearing apparel," which had been consumed by fire while on the body of his wife, who was burned to death by the ignition of her clothing by fire from the stove. Why should he not be paid? Does not a lady now wear a thousand dollars' worth of dry goods?

PUTTING DOWN THE PRINTERS COMBINATION.—The Chicago Times says: The proprietors of the Times office this morning discharged their entire force of printers, and put a force of forty young women in their places. Tearing the old type of composition, having been learning for several months preparatory to this event. The affair has caused a great sensation among the printing fraternity of this city.—Chicago Journal.

THE TWO HORNS OF TOM DROWN'S DILEMMA.

(Original.)

Did ever I tell you of the sad shipwreck That happened out here to a country chap, Whose name was Tom, Brown, and a deacon's son, And although he was Brown, he was always done?

You see he came over on steam day, Botched and dressed in his Sunday array, And taking his "gut" to the public square; He took a stroll out on the public square; And when he was where the "sun" was setting, He said he'd go in for a watermelon.

A long red corn, half as long as your arm, The very best the had raised on the farm; And Thomas stooped over among the weed, To pick the melon of his shilly seeds, And thinking not what would be the effect, He decided himself to a crooked aspect, Tearing no doubt that the melon juice Would injure his shilly for future use.

He took the shilly with half closed eyes, Stood a useless corn stamping at the dew, Silently chewing its grassy cud, Keeping an eye on a puddle of mud, And seeing Tom, present his hostile sight, Stiffened his back for impromptu fight: These minutes hastily over the track, He struck Thomas Brown on the end of his back!

Up went the melon, seeds, hulls, and hat, Before Thomas Brown had time to say "cat!" And down went Tommy on his hands and knees, With his coat full of duffing in the breeze, Wondering what hit him as he lay on his back, On finding himself in a similar plight— The crowd growl with a shrill cry, And the wicked boys gave the goat three cheers.

The last I saw of Thomas Brown He was making tracks for a grocery store, Tightly holding his coat-tail before. He passed the boys and he turned the goat! But kept a firm grasp on the tail of his coat, For the goat's two horns, like a pair of axes, Had made a bad breach in his castimere!

DEAD COOK IN THE PIT.—"Little Mack" (little in every sense of the word,) is a dead cook in the pit. He has been slaughtered as he slaughtered the United States troops at Antietam. He has been put in another command. He now leads the rebels of the free States, and is supported by the St. Louis Republican—that alone is enough to damn any one.

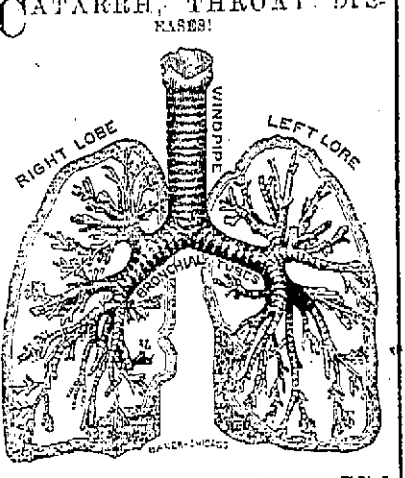

The Union people now demand of him his immediate surrender of his commission as a Major General of the United States. Let him attempt to run on the Copperhead ticket and hold on to the commission he now holds, and the loyal Government of the United States—who will soon learn the Union people have stood his contemptible hypocrisy long enough.

A WAR DEMOCRAT.

P. S.—I cannot support the Copperhead ticket because it is a sectional ticket—both candidates being from the free States.—A. W. D.—St. Louis Evening News.

The Lesson of Atlanta.

One of the heaviest blows for Peace that has been struck since the war began was that which General Sherman dealt the other day in Georgia. It was one of the "decisive" victories of the war. It decided the fate of the rebellion in the states of Georgia and Alabama, as the victory of Chattanooga decided it in Tennessee, or that of Vicksburg in the states west of the Mississippi.—Chicago Post.

Well, then, Mr. Post, if what you say be true, please tell us why in the name of the God of battles, we shall not get on striking those heavy blows for peace? Peace is what we want and it is what you want, and when you acknowledge that the victory of General Sherman at Atlanta has decided the fate of the rebellion in the states of Georgia and Alabama, you at the same time unwittingly admit that a part of the second resolution in your platform is a lie. That resolution declares that the "experiment" of war to put an end to the rebellion has been a failure, and it calls for a cessation of hostilities on our part until peaceable means have been tried. A cessation of hostilities involves the withdrawal of Sherman's victorious legions, the abandonment of territory fairly conquered and the relinquishment of forts and cities taken at the expense of many a priceless life; and to all this your party stands pledged.

No, Mr. Post, your Convention wrote itself down a most unbecomingly flimsy when it said that the war was an "experiment" on the part of the Federal Government, and such was the "sense" of the American people. It is not the sense of anybody but the sympathizers of the rebels and those who wish the "experiment" to fail. It is not the opinion of yourself nor of your nominee for the highest office within the nation's gift. You state truly that such victories as Sherman are heavy blows for peace, much more heavy and effective than the efforts of a cowardly, pusillanimous convention of semi-dissatisfied prospects of success as we have observed at Mobile and Atlanta.

To the testimony of the Post may also be added that of the Richmond papers which acknowledge, since the fall of Atlanta, that "the prospects for peace, recently so bright, have vanished," such is their language. The hopes of peace inspired to insurgent banners by the Chicago Convention, are brought low by the defeat of Hood, and it is doubtful, if the rebels were left free to choose, which they would prefer, the loss of Richmond or the defeat of McClellan. Either event would be fatal to their hopes.

So far, as the people are concerned, we believe they are firmly established in the conviction that it is vastly better to let Grant and Sherman and Farragut keep on striking just such "blows for peace" as they have been dealing out of late, rather than have a cessation of hostilities which could only result in allowing a newly vanquished foe to recuperate his wasted energies. The rebels were never so near the last ditch as now. They have spent their last dollar long ago, and their last man is already in the ranks. A little more effort on our part, and the glorious end will have been reached. The fall of Atlanta decides the fate of Georgia and Alabama. The fall of Richmond will decide the fate of the so-called Confederacy. If we hold out a few short months longer victory will perch upon our banners, and peace will come and come to stay.

A SHAMEFUL FAULT.—Mr. Charles A. Wythe, one of the Kentucky delegates to the Chicago Convention, asserted that in the military prison in Louisville, the female prisoners were "confined in damp and dirty cells, with straw to lie upon," and they had "the coarsest prison fare." So far from their being a word of truth in this, as he must have known, the female prisoners are in a large, commodious brick house, erected by a merchant for his own family. The rooms are large, well-lighted, and the whole house finely ventilated. The grounds belonging to the dwelling have an area nearly equal to the largest squares in the city. The rooms occupied by the females are tidy, neat and clean. The prisoners go about the city, go shopping when they desire to do so, and enjoy every privilege that Col. Fairleigh can grant them. On the day before yesterday, the most infamous state agent at Chicago, Col. Fairleigh received an order, giving all these female prisoners the privilege of going North, with transportation furnished, to any place where within one hundred miles, and every one of them refused to leave the prison.

LETTER FROM THE FEDERAL CAPITAL.

Copperheadism in La Crosse.—McClellan's nomination among the People.—The Chicago Convention.—The Political and Military Situation.—Where Money runs the Democratic Machine.—The October Election.—Gov. Randall &c., &c.

Washington, Sept. 8, 1864.

Editors, Gazette.—For several months I have been a quiet Observer of the mighty events which have taken place in such succession, and I should not now have resumed my pen as a newspaper correspondent had not the friendly spirit that presides over the destinies of the Gazette, said unto me: Write! I obey the mandate, for it comes from an old friend. Four weeks ago I left the Federal Capital to breathe a little of the pure air of the great and glorious Northwest. It was said to be very warm in Washington and undoubtedly it was so, but it was hot, hotter, hottest, as far as I travelled, even to the banks of the Upper Mississippi, and for once in my life I realized what it was to jump out of the "frying-pan into the fire."

Washington, at 90 degrees with its reeking, filthy gutters, may well be likened unto a frying-pan with its noxious vapors of burning grease, but the City of La Crosse situated on a bed of coarse, river sand, heated for 30 days by the rays of a clear burning sun, with the thermometer ranging from 80 to 108 degrees, is more like a burning fire than I care soon again to endure.

Then again, La Crosse is hardly afflicted with Copperheadism. Brick Pomeroy revels there in all his glory; jovial and social, at the same time bold, impudent and unblushing in his tricks and treason. Somewhere, not long since, have I seen the loyalty of the Republicans of that city questioned, because of the patronage they bestowed on Pomeroy. Do not too harshly with them; the Democrat is a live paper, and for that reason it is tolerated. A live Republican editor who would publish a good family paper, and a spirited local journal would be warmly welcomed by the business men of that city, and would be liberally patronized by all parties.

Leaving La Crosse on the last day of August, I left behind me more McClellanism than I have seen or heard of since, for during my journey of over 1,100 miles in Washington, I did not hear half a dozen persons in the ears advocate the claims of the traitor candidate for the Presidency, and they were quite subdued and mild in their tone and manner. And at all the stations that lined the Railroads from Prairie du Chien to this city, not a half a dozen individuals volunteered to raise a cheer for the "grave digger of the Chickahominy." For one, I confess myself nonplussed at this want of enthusiasm. Reading in the papers of the great Convention at Chicago, and of the wonderful unanimity manifested in the balloting for McClellan, I felt that I should find the country in an uproar of enthusiasm. But no; on the contrary it falls like a wet blanket on the people and chills them to the heart's core. Sterling Democrats had hopes and expectations that a Statesman like Guthrie would have been selected, and that thereby a large number of disaffected Republicans would be drawn to the support of their nominee. A very able Democrat a few days ago remarked to me, that it remained to be seen whether the Chicago Convention would throw away half a million votes or not, at the same time adding that he feared the Convention would not have good sense enough to nominate either Guthrie or Fillmore, and that they would sacrifice the party on the altar of availability by pandering to the military and try to catch army votes by nominating McClellan. They have done as he feared.

The month of August was dark and gloomy for the Union cause. With our candidate in the field, we have been for three months lying in waiting for the coming foe, not knowing why was to head them. It was a bold movement, the postponement of the Chicago Convention, and well nigh proved our ruin. In the absence of the common foe, discussions were springing up in our own ranks, fights upon Washington, resignation of Chase, intrigues of rebels on the Canadian borders, faltering of the Petersburg mice, and the Wade and Davis manifesto, all conspired to render the people uneasy and dissatisfied and the copperheads and traitors jubilant.

The indications were fair if this state of things continued much longer, that Mr. Lincoln would be defeated at the November polls. But alas for Copperheadism; the dark and lowering clouds are rapidly passing away. Grant with bull-dog tenacity has seized and holds the Weldon road to the great discomfiture and mortification of Davis and Lee; Farragut has blocked up Mobile; and last and most important of all, Sherman is in possession of more than half the rebel long since conceded as of more vital importance to them than Richmond itself.

Amid all this the Chicago Convention has met, and without one word of condemnation of Jeff Davis, pronounces the efforts of the Administration to subdue the rebellion, a failure; calls for a cessation of hostilities, and an ultimate Convention to settle the difficulties between the North and South. General McClellan, the candidate of this body of traitors, is a fit candidate of men who could be bought up by British and Rebel gold. They propose to step into the shoes of the traitors, and to take the place of the traitors. For fear Grant and Sherman will subdue the rebellion.

conclude with the emissaries of Jeff Davis at Niagara, and have carried out the bargain struck then and there, as far as they had the power to do it. The eyes of the American people are being opened to the enormity of the great conspiracy; that has been going on to betray our liberties and secure a permanent disunion and disruption of the country.

As Wellington said at Waterloo: "Up Guards and at them!"—Up freemen, and crush this traitor conspiracy of a seditious brood. Now for a long pull, a strong pull and a pull all together and we will crush at the coming election, Northern traitors. Let every man devote a goodly portion of the next two months to his country. Does abroad and at home are upon us. There is work to be done. Vermont sends her greeting. From all I can learn Maine will vote up 40,000 majority next Monday without the soldiers vote. From Indiana we have cheering indications. The exposition of the oath bound organization and the seizure of the arms and ammunition designed to resist the draft has sent consternation into the traitor camp. Our friends from that State in their letters predict Morton's election by 15,000 majority. So mote it be.

B. S. Heath, a very competent and able clerk, in the 2d Auditor's Office, from Wisconsin, has resigned his position and $1000 salary and goes to New York where he does much better.

Gov. Randall is now in Maine, doing battle manfully in the cause of Liberty. I am happy to be able to say that the Governor is regarded as one of our best public speakers. His campaign work. He justly stands very high with the President, Sec'y Fessenden and other leading men, and on all hands I hear high encomiums of praise for him. He is regarded as one of our really able men; an Executive Officer of the first class, a wise and sagacious counselor, a Spokesman of a high order of talents, and in every sense of the word, a rising man. He is freely spoken of here as very likely to become a member of Mr. Lincoln's new Cabinet. His Jacksonian firmness, and willingness, and readiness to shoulder the responsibility commends him to all as a fit man for a Cabinet Office. May he be fortunate enough to win such a position, and Wisconsin should feel proud of his rising fame.

OBSERVER.

George B. Smith For Congress.

As the democracy of this county has no organ of its own in which the praises of the two George B.'s may be sung, and their virtues made known to the faithful in these parts, we gladly give up a portion of our space to a speech of their candidate for Congress, made at Madison July 20th, 1862. The reader will please note the slight discrepancy between the sentiments expressed below, and those contained in the copperhead platform laid down at Chicago, Mr. Smith being one of the committee which put it forth and is responsible for it. We quote from the Madison Journal:

Gen. Geo. B. Smith was next called out. He did not want to make a speech here. He was going to Milwaukee and wanted to make his speech there. If he made it now, somebody might steal it. (Laughter.) His position was that we must stand by the Government of the United States. He did not want for it is against it. And his doctrine was that the Administration was the Government of the United States. The President and those he calls about him to administer the Government constituted the Government—TILL HE CONCLUDED TO TURN REBELS HE WOULD STAND BY THE ADMINISTRATION, SO HELP HIM GOD. (Great cheering.) We must forget that we are Republicans or Democrats or partisans of any kind, and remember only that we are Americans. Much of a Democrat as he was, he could not have been more so in his position. The doctrine he was advocating was the utter repudiation of the President to the members of Congress from the Border States. He was not going to find fault or grumble at what was done. There was little for an Administration now to do but to attend to the war. With all the complaints made of the past, in his whole course of reading, he had never read or heard of a parallel to the gigantic efforts put forth by the United States within the last fifteen months. The trouble was we had not properly estimated the strength of the rebels, and our self-pride would not allow us to confess it. We must fight, cost what it may; the battle of the Constitution, and we must continue to fight until we conquer or there is nothing left of us. [Cheers.] The difficulty is to make the people feel the necessity. The rebels fight with their whole power. Every man, woman and child fight against us. Our side, and ours, the Administration, must have policy, and we must have courage. We must give it a vigorous confidence. WHEN YOU HEAR A MAN FINDING TOO MUCH FAULT WITH THE ADMINISTRATION, YOU CAN RELY ON IT THAT IN SECRET HE IS OPPOSED TO THE WAR.

The speaker then enjoined unity, and deprecated disputes between loyal men, and the practice of calling people secessionists who do not think just as we do. I shall stand with him; by the policy of the Administration, WHICH IS THE GOVERNMENT, whatever it is, and though it might not be the country—THOUGH THE EXTREME POLICY OF SETTING THE NEGROES FREE should be adopted, yet, if the President and he believed the President was honest, and his wholehearted support in the effort of putting down this rebellion, I WOULD STAND BY HIM. I would stand by the people with whom I was born, even in freeing the negroes, by burning the crops of the enemy, and even the destruction of the whole Southern people! (Great cheering.) Though he would reserve the right to say what his private opinion was, yet he would stand by the President, who was a rebel and traitor.

The above report of his remarks appeared in this paper the following day after it was made. The Patriot of the same date gave the following report of it: The Hon. Geo. B. Smith was then called for, who responded in his inimitable vein of wit and humor, and as we could not do justice by even attempting a synopsis of his remarks, we will be content to give his conclusions, which were these: That no matter who occupied the Presidential chair, he was clothed FOR THE TIME BEING WITH AUTOCRATIC POWER IN WAR MATTERS, being commander-in-chief, &c. HIS ADMINISTRATION WAS THE GOVERNMENT, or at least all that made the Government effective, and as a good patriot citizen he (Mr. Smith) would sustain, as was his duty, every measure of that administration, WHETHER IT AGREED WITH HIS PERSONAL OR POLITICAL VIEWS OR NOT. He did agree with the President's present war policy. He thought it wise, conservative and sound; but if the President had chosen the extreme policy desired of him by many of his extreme friends, HE (Mr. Smith) WOULD SUPPORT HIM IN CRUSHING OUT THIS REBELLION CHEERFULLY. He would attach no "ifs" or "buts" as conditional precedents to his support of the Administration in putting down this war.

"When Mr. Smith rebuked with patriotic zeal, the idea that any action could be taken to stand in the way of a bold and vigorous effort to put down the rebellion, he was met by a burst of applause from the following: (of Judge Paine) hissed like snakes." The allusion in the last paragraph is to certain Republicans and to a speech made the same evening by Judge Paine of the Supreme Court, who took occasion to differ with Geo. B. and to assert his belief in the right and propriety of criticizing such acts of the administration as men honestly believe to be wrong, notwithstanding the country was engaged in war.

"The people can judge how much reliance can be placed upon a man who, three years ago, avowed such sentiments as the above, and who now denounces the administration and advocates an 'immediate cessation of hostilities' against rebellion."

A REMEDY FOR THE PILLS.

It is a blessing to the suffering to know that we have an effective cure for this truly troublesome disease. Dr. J. P. HAZARD, of 101 Second street, Cincinnati, Ohio, takes great pleasure in informing all who are suffering with piles that he has a small quantity of Dr. Strickland's Pile Remedy, and it effected a permanent cure. This seems to be the case with all who make use of this splendid preparation. It is manufactured at No. 6 South Ninth street, Cincinnati, Ohio, and sold by all Druggists.

DIARRHEA AND DYSENTERY.

We have examined a great number of letters from some of the most prominent citizens of Cincinnati and Covington, Ohio, speaking in the highest terms of Dr. Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture for the cure of diarrhea and dysentery. The letters are too long to publish. Mr. Woods, of Covington, says he was pronounced incurable by the best doctors in Cincinnati, and one bottle of Dr. Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture effected a permanent cure after suffering for months with the worst form of diarrhea and dysentery.

Another says he was discharged from the United States service after suffering in the hospital for eight months with diarrhea and dysentery, and was pronounced incurable. He was cured by one bottle of Dr. Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture. He has now entered the army again in good health. One man writes he has cured seven or eight very bad cases of diarrhea and dysentery in the barracks he was in with one bottle of this valuable medicine. In fact we could fill half our paper with similar testimonials from these letters. We need not our government secure this valuable preparation? Our army ought to be supplied with it. It is but a short time since one of our Cincinnati journals, in a very low condition, has been considered the case of a hopeless case. She, however, gave him Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture, and in three weeks he was able to return home with his wife to New Richmond, O. All these cases right at home speak for themselves. We hope all the soldiers will put a bottle of it in their trunks. It may save them or some of their comrades. It is for sale by Druggists at 65 cents per bottle.

After having played on the Piano of Messrs. Knab & Co. it is impossible not to bear testimony to the superiority which they enjoy. The Piano of their manufacture, on which I have played, are exceedingly remarkable for their quality. The tone is powerful without harshness, and the action is most sweet, clear and harmoniously inflected. Spring Steel Drill-Eyed

NEEDLES!

TO THE LADIES.

Dr. Colenso.—Dr. Colenso has again written to the Chronicle to request that the statement that he has "denied the inspiration of the Bible" may be contradicted. He complains that it is calumnious, unfair, and unfounded, and that his passage in his writing is misinterpreted to offer the shadow of a reason for such an assertion. On the other hand, he now expressly declares his belief that the Bible is inspired but quite disavows the declaration by saying that he does not believe that "every statement of the Bible is so inspired as to be infallible and I do not believe," he adds "as the Bible of Cape Town does the whole Bible." Every lineal letter of the Chronicle, Editor and the book of Job—Is the more just and the living God? Dr. Colenso's letters that after this appeal the statement which he complains may not be repeated.

THE STEWART COOK STOVE.—I have led feet in baking. Several days ago, Mr. N. B. Hurwood, the agent in this city of the celebrated Stewart Cook Stove, advertised a challenge of $1000 that the stove would perform 50 per cent. more baking with the same amount of fuel, than any other that could be trotted out against it. The trial came off yesterday. Mr. L. H. Hordford, the general agent of the stove, acted as cook, and in the presence of several gentlemen, commenced the trial.

Two elm sticks, containing in all about 160 cubic inches of wood, were placed in the fire box, and started by chips. The bread in 20 minutes containing "pound loaves" was then placed in the oven, and in 20 minutes drawn forth, and set to a delicious pulpy richness equal to any baked in a brick oven. We never tasted better bread anywhere.

The fire box was then examined, and the two sticks were found not to be consumed. Mr. Hordford offered an additional $1000 that he could bake 60 loaves without renewing it, and actually did put in 20 more and a rest of meat, which were baked sweet and nice, and afterwards devoured with great gusto by the lookers on.

Such surprising results as this must certainly make the Stewart Stove the pot of every household. A number of our citizens have bought them within a year, and declare they can almost save their cost in a year, in the reduced quantity of fuel burned, alone, while the worst vexation of bad bread and poor cookery is also avoided. The writer of this item has one in use in his own family, and considers its cost half paid in less than a year's use.

There will be a trial and challenge of the same nature of the above, at the store of D. H. Day & Co., Minneapolis, today at two o'clock. Ladies and housekeepers are invited to attend. —St. Paul Press, August 20th.

1. The first step in the process of the investigation is the identification of the problem. This involves a thorough review of the available information and a clear definition of the issue at hand. Once the problem is identified, the next step is to gather relevant data and information. This can be done through various methods, including interviews, surveys, and analysis of existing records. The third step is to analyze the data and information gathered. This involves identifying patterns, trends, and potential causes of the problem. Finally, the fourth step is to develop and implement a solution. This may involve a combination of policy changes, training, and other interventions. The process of investigation is an ongoing one, and it is important to continue to monitor the situation and make adjustments as needed.
